

Announcing

SAFEST and BEST

FROM now on, the Standard Oil Company of New York's best grade of refined oil will be sold by name—SOCONY (So-CO-ny) Kerosene Oil.

It was the Standard Oil Company which was responsible for making kerosene a safe and reliable fuel in the early days of the petroleum industry.

Today SOCONY, which is the trademarked name we have given to our best grade of kerosene, represents the last word in the refining of kerosene oil.

All kerosene is not alike by any means. And the good kind is enough better to be decidedly worth asking for. If you want the most heat from your stoves and heaters, most light from your lamps and lanterns, with complete freedom from smoke and odor, order SOCONY Kerosene by name.

Dealers who carry genuine SOCONY Kerosene Oil display the SOCONY sign in their windows. Look for this sign. It is the sign of quality and the world's best kerosene.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Rep. Murphy On Important Committee—B. & M. Issues Good Statement—Flurry On Lodge

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, March 1.—Rep. Dennis A. Murphy of Lowell has been selected as a member of a sub-committee of the house committee on ways and means, which has been charged with the duty of finding some way of preventing heads of state departments and institutions from overrunning the appropriations allowed them by the legislature.

As the first step in the crusade, the sub-committee has summoned the chairman of every state commission, and the head of every state institution, to the state house tomorrow morning; they will be put "on the carpet," especially those who exceeded their appropriations last year, and will be told in plain language that the ways and means committee intends that its allowances shall be considered as final.

Last year, certain institutions and departments expended an aggregate of $17,000 more than was allowed them by the committee, and although this amount is somewhat smaller than has generally been the case in late years, members of the committee feel that the department heads show too little respect for the acts of the legislature, and, in certain cases at least, go ahead and make such expenditures as they see fit, even though the ways and means committee has refused to make appropriations therefor.

The other members of the sub-committee are Reps. Lyman of Easthampton and Young of Weston.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

If little stomach is sour, liver torpid or bowels clogged

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

Issues Good Statement

The Boston & Maine statement for January is the best one yet issued, showing an increase of $44,452 in the net income after all charges have been paid. This gain brings the increase for the first seven months of the fiscal year up to $2,537,591, equal to nearly 6 per cent. on the capital stock.

The reversal in form shown by the Boston & Maine has come at just the right time to furnish a basis for a reorganization of the company that will place it in a strong financial position, without compelling any large sacrifice on the part of the stockholders. Undoubtedly the war has been the main cause for the great increase in earnings, but nevertheless the stockholders now have the chance they have been waiting for.

The gain in freight earnings in January was remarkable, being $775,257, or nearly 40 per cent. A very favorable feature, also, was a gain in the passenger earnings of $10,946, breaking a long line of decreases in this item. In fact, the passenger earnings for the seven months show a decrease of $603,926, while the freight earnings for that period show an increase of $2,115,716. It is clear that operating expenses have been held down so far as they could be for the total for seven months shows a decrease of $539,638. In January there was an increase in operating expenses, however, undoubtedly in connection with the heavy movement of freight.

The January statement shows: Total operating revenue, $1,205,961, an increase of $834,327; operating income, $974,258, an increase of $523,802; gross income, $1,044,067, an increase of $544,586; charges, $984,547, an increase of $106,967; net income, $109,520, an increase of $444,452.

Workmen's Compensation Law
A most important change in the workmen's compensation law was reported in the senate yesterday afternoon, with the unanimous endorsement of the judiciary committee. The bill reported provides that compensation for accidents shall begin on the 11th day after injury, provided incapacity continues that long. At present no compensation is paid until the 15th day after the injury.

The bill reported was recommended to the legislature on recommendation of the industrial accident board, and having the endorsement of that board, as well as of the judiciary committee, it is expected to pass. Its effect will be to compensate materially the benefits paid to injured workmen, for it means not only that each man incapacitated for more than two weeks will get four days' additional compensation, but also that those whose incapacity is ended just short of 14 days will also obtain some compensation, although slight.

Another important provision of the reported bill is that when compensation is begun, for an indeterminate period, it shall not be stopped without the consent of the injured employee, or the approval of the industrial accident board. In the past certain companies have been in the habit of suspending compensation when in their judgment the employee was sufficiently recovered to enable him to return to work, and it was placed upon him to prove that he was not able to work. Under the new bill, this burden of proof is transferred to the insurance company.

The committee declined, however, to report another provision, recommended by the accident board, that in cases where incapacity continues for more than twenty-eight days, compensation shall be paid from the day of the injury. Members of the committee state that in their opinion it is essential that some waiting period be retained in all cases, in order to prevent feigned incapacity.

Juries and incapacity.
There was a brief flurry in the senate yesterday, in which Henry Cabot Lodge proved the central figure. Sen. Brown of Gloucester, in asking for the passage of resolutions urging congress to take steps to do away with the menace to navigation which exists in Rockport harbor by reason of an unfinished breakwater, asked the members not to be led to oppose the bill because of the letter from Lodge, read last week, for the purpose of defeating resolutions in favor of pensioning letter carriers. He said the senior senator telephoned to him from Washington Monday morning, stating that his letter was intended to refer only to matters which are not strictly local to Massachusetts, and that he had not intended that it should be given to the public anyway.

Sen. Hobbs of Worcester, who had read the letter to the senate, mildly resented what he thought was an intimation that he had read publicly a private letter. "If the senior senator does not desire that the public shall be informed as to his attitude on public questions, he should be more careful about his correspondence," was Sen. Hobbs' comment. The resolutions were adopted, 15 to 3. (Hoyt.)

KITCHEN KLUB

Big Mid-Winter Soiree at Old Washington Tavern

The Kitchen Klub, an association that includes a goodly number of convivial souls, all of whom are modest to a fault, held a mid-winter soiree at the Old Washington Tavern last night. There were about 50 present, including undertakers and American citizens. The dinner was one of chicken and other things, and to remark that it was served by Jim Smith means "nuff sed." Secretary William Higgins was the toastmaster for the evening.

The members of this powerful but not widely known organization lined up along the walls when supper was announced the same as Villa arranges Carranza men and stood at attention while President Edmund Helleberg, after something gave the command to drink. The libation at each plate was lifted and there was a look of general dismay when it was ascertained beyond the shadow of doubt that the libation was nothing more emotional than grape juice and in disgust the membership took seats and waited.

After the dinner had ended the program of entertainment was begun and while other organizations may boast of orators and vocalists, there's none to compare with the Kitchen Klub. Because a gavel would not make enough noise to attract attention to his insignificance, the toastmaster used a giant electric horn to call the assembly from disorder to quasi-respectful tranquility. In reporting this very delightful affair we do not intend to budge one inch from the truth and just for that we will have to state that the program consisted of three and a half hours of speeches on all conceivable and imaginary subjects by ex-President Freshbitts. At times when he became fatigued he would allow some other white American to talk for a few seconds, after which he would turn his back to the hostess and go on refreshed. He was awarded three medals for Marathon oratory.

The toastmaster called upon the president to read a history of the Kitchen Klub. The president refused to read from manuscript and spoke extemporaneously for four minutes, if he read a lecture on the club's history, he might be put in the ex-president's class or in jail. He also said it was not possible to read a history of the club because the club has no history. All it has is a record. The president closed his talk with a rhyme entitled "The Gaspsie." The rhyme:

He didn't know a rhyme thing,
And didn't know he didn't know it.
Therefore he kept his tongue swollen,
And spared no word pains to show it.

He talked about the war—poor boob—off the English tongue.
By shooting through his botch-o' tube
The worst mistakes we've yet heard sprung.

And did he whisper it discreetly
And did he yearn to be connected?
Ah, no! He warbled loud and hearty,
No humbleness could be detected.

He bawled about the "moon-phantasy"
He said "the moon-phantasy" was great Cosmos!
I listened to his rambling words
Till I was crazy as a cat.

Yet was this chatter an occasion
To other poets of the day,
Who, as above, in public places,
Shout their shop of all the streets?

Not that! Although he was a fright,
And though his mouth was full of foam,
I should be doing less than right
To call him other than a simple.

The next speaker was introduced after a moment's delay by a commission at the hands of the toastmaster. He was a middle-aged man, and he delivered a very interesting talk on the Panama canal and some byways which he visited in Washington and other places. Miss Rose Garrity paid his respects to the assemblage. He said he was not biased to the fact that he was taking a big risk in harlequinizing them, yet the element of danger added with it a most soothing fascination, and he would rather take a chance he said, than miss the fun. It was a great evening.

win smokers because they find the blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos so refreshing; because they appreciate the absence of tongue-bite, throat-parch and any unpleasant cigarette after-taste!

You'll prefer this Camel blend flavor to either kind of tobacco smoked straight. And the quality is so apparent men do not look for or expect coupons or premiums!

Once you know the delightful mellow-mild-smoothness of Camels—and how liberally you can smoke them without a comeback—you'll choose them against any cigarette at any price!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages, 20 for 10c; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine paper-covered box for $1.00. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

BROADWAY SOCIAL CLUB
Members of the Broadway Social and Athletic club were hosts last evening to a large number of friends at the Pavlovsk boat house where a successful dancing party and ladies' night was held in connection with the club's annual event to take place in April. A large number of young people attended and participated in the program arranged by the efficient committee in charge. The cosy hall was prettily decorated with hunting and flowers. Pink and white being the color scheme. Besides dancing to music furnished by Viner's orchestra, a musical program consisting of solos by the following was presented: Thomas Delmore, John Neeson, Mrs. Nora Longton, James E. Donnelly, Miss Evelyn Benoit, James Dowling, James E. Shugrue, David Royle and James Roane. The committee in charge of the affair comprised William Madden, chairman; Guyot Royal, Thomas Rogers, William Marcott and Fred Campbell. Peter E. Brady was the treasurer.

ROGER BARRINGTON HURT

While working on the construction of the new high school in Main street, Barrington, late yesterday afternoon, Roger Barrington, a carpenter residing in North Bitterica, fell from a staging and sustained internal injuries which may prove serious. Mr. Barrington was working about 15 feet from the ground when he tripped and fell. He was taken to his home where he was treated by Dr. Nell G. Forhan.

WILLIAM F. THORNTON APPEARED
Attorney William F. Thornton of this city appeared before the committee on public service at the state house yesterday and urged favorable action on a bill which would place school attendance officers in the towns of the state under civil service.

He said that the state has not enforced the child labor laws as they should and named as one good reason why the attendance officers should be placed under the civil service the fact that in many towns, manufacturers with large establishments are frequently members of the school board, with the consequent result that attendance officers find it very hard to compel these manufacturers to live up to the law. Nathan G. Upham of Pittsburg, an attendance officer, stated in his town many young men are working nights in the paper mills and that it is almost impossible to force the manufacturer to discharge these young men who are below the employment age. He urged that the attendance officers in towns be placed on the same basis as the attendance officers in the cities of this state, who are under the wing of the civil service.

WAR RISK INSURANCE

RATES ON TRANS-ATLANTIC STEAMERS AND CARGOES ADVANCED TODAY

NEW YORK, March 1.—Rates of war risk insurance on trans-Atlantic steamers and cargoes had advanced today in anticipation of the enforcement of Germany's new policy of sinking armed merchant ships without warning. The quotation on vessels bound for Mediterranean ports was increased to two per cent upon the receipt of cables from London saying that a similar rate had been imposed there. Previously the rate here had been about one per cent but ranging upward to 1½ on specially valuable cargoes.

The war risk quotation on vessels destined to English and French ports also stiffened and ranged from 1 to 1½ per cent. The reported presence of German raiders off the coast of Brazil caused the war rates on belittled merchant ships in the South American trade to stand firmly at 3 per cent.

The engineering department is supported mainly through charges made to other city departments.

This is in accordance with law: The municipal council must allow the water department to expend for maintenance all of its receipts.

The estimate for the repair of the roof of the Protective station in Warren Street was contained in one of the items which was eliminated; only the Protective roof was allowed to stay in.

THE MUNICIPAL BUDGET

Continued

Increases shown by Mr. Paige were as follows: Charity department, $16,000; police, $15,000; streets, $25,000; health, $14,000; lighting, $36,000; fire, $16,000; buildings, $13,000; schools, $100,000; sewerage department, $15,000. These, the auditor said, were not all of the increases. He said the total increase would figure $176,000, whereas the total of receipts for all departments has increased only $110,000 in the same period, or since 1912.

Mayor O'Donnell called the meeting to order at 11:15 o'clock and the first matter taken up had to do with structural steel for the high school. The commissioner of public property was instructed to make requisition through the proper channel, the purchasing agent's office, for 1000 tons of structural steel for the proposed school building, and he was also instructed to make requisition for 500 tons of another kind of steel to be used in connection with the new school.

The mayor then took up the matter of the estimates. He said that the commissioner of finance and the city auditor had gone over the budget as passed upon yesterday and found that unless the assessors should discover considerable new property the tax rate for 1916 would be approximately 122.13, an increase of 1.33 over the present rate. He said the commissioner of finance had suggested that further reductions be made in the estimates, whereupon the mayor, himself, started the ball rolling by moving that the council attempt a revision of the figures.

Council Starts Slashing

The sum of $169,000 had been allowed the police department and on suggestion of Mr. Duncan the amount was reduced to $167,000. It was also voted to cut out the $150 for police storage batteries.

The appropriation for the health office was reduced to $10,000.

The sum of $1000 was stricken from

The health department yard.
The sum of $5000 was stricken from the health department. Though the mayor said he felt it would be absolutely necessary to come back later on and ask for assistance. "I think it isn't the honest way to do it, but I do not intend to stand in the way of progress," said the mayor.

Mr. Duncan allowed, however, that because of the unusual prosperity at the present time the expenses of the health department would probably be less than in the "lean years."

"We are held absolutely responsible for all increases in the tax rate. The people will not recognize the fact that the State places responsibility after responsibility upon us, and we will have to do the cutting regardless of conditions," said Mr. Duncan.

For Dependent Mothers

This suggestion was made by Mr.
Duncan that the sum of $5000 be stricken from the appropriation for mothers with dependent children. The sum of $300 was asked. The sum of $25,000 was spent last year. The mayor said it was wrong to reduce this particular appropriation, for he felt it would be absolutely necessary to ask for assistance later on. The matter was put to a vote and Mr. Duncan's motion was defeated, receiving only his own and Mr. Putnam's vote.

The Biggest Slash

The next up was the street department, for which $165,000 was allowed yesterday.

"How much do you intend to ask for in loans?" queried Mr. Duncan.

"About the same as last year," said
Mr. O'Meara.

"I think we should charge more labor to loans and less to street maintenance," said Mr. Duncan, "and I want to say that Mr. Morse is getting $20,000 more this year than he had last year."

Mr. Morse couldn't see that Mr.
Duncan assured him he would get more transfers this year than last.

"I move that Mr. Morse be allowed $155,000, instead of $165,000," said the mayor.

"Good heavens, that will swamp me. Give me $160,000," says Mr.
Morse.

"The city auditor will get bigger transfers this year," said Mr. Duncan.
"Perhaps the city auditor ought to have charge of streets," said Mr.
Morse.

The city auditor explained that under a better system of bookkeeping in the street department office, Mr. Morse can get back from $25,000 to $30,000 annually. The mayor's motion was then put and carried. Mr. Morse voting against.

The Fire Department

The mayor moved that $1000 be stricken from the fire department and that the $200 for district chiefs' automobiles be stricken out. It was so

BEAUTIFUL MIDDLE AGE

At forty a woman must begin to take measures, usually, to avoid a super abundance of fat, must adopt reasonable exercise and a diet that will keep the physical condition ac-

The following indoor exercises will serve, in a measure, but there are many others that one may adopt.
All indoor exercises should be in a room where plenty of fresh and pure air is in circulation.

The first exercise is taken as follows: Standing erect, arms at side, the fists are clenched and brought upward. The arms are then quickly thrust forward as though striking some object, and then, with equal force the elbows are projected backward as far as possible. This move-

The park department received a slash of $3000. The schools were next arrived at and the appropriation was cut $155,000.

The sum of $2000 was stricken from claims, and special work for schools was reduced $3050.

The total of reductions made today now reached $36,850 and the printers whetted their knives again.

At 1:05 the council took a recess of ten minutes.

The mayor called to order again at 12:20 and moved that the sum of $5000 be stricken from the appropriation for dependent mothers and $500 from the library appropriation. It was so voted. The budget total reduction up to $41,550.

Commissioner Duncan then presented an order for $2,208,559.39 to meet fixed charges and current expenses for 1916.
The order was adopted.

The mayor then read a communication from abutters in Middle street asking for a white way, and the mayor moved that the petitioners be given leave to withdraw. Mr. Duncan moved as an amendment that action be deferred. The mayor accepted the amendment and it was so voted.

Mr. Duncan said he asked for postponement in order that the council members might ascertain if all property owners there would be willing to pay an extra assessment of 50 cents a foot. A petition for the macadamizing of West Sixth street was referred to Mr. Morse. Adjourned to

GEORGE BILL LAW

Gov. McCall Signed it
Today—Two Objections Explained

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, March 1.—Governor McCall signed the George bill this afternoon and issued a statement giving the reason for his action.

He said he would have preferred a bill somewhat broader in its scope, but as the time to prepare for the primary election is so short he feels it would be impossible to pass any other bill, and he is therefore content to develop whether the George bill or the present law should govern the coming primary.

The governor has two objections to the bill, the first being that it does not allow an expression of preference as to between candidates for president, and the second that it requires a candidate for president to give assent to the use of his name. He believes the bill, as a whole, is a distinct improvement upon the present law.

Three Lowell Loan Bills
The house of representatives yesterday afternoon accepted without debate the adverse report of the municipal finance committee on the three Lowell loan bills and the report will now go to the senate.

LONDON, March 1.—Today, the last

the British army of single men, showed a steady flow of recruits at the

there was a considerable number of

EXPLOSION ON STEAMER

POLICE BLAME TWO GERMANS
FOR BOMB EXPLOSION ON LIN-ER TENNYSON

RIO JANIRO, March 1.—A despatch from Bahia says that the police authorities there, as the result of an investigation which they have made, place the responsibility for the bomb explosion on the Lampart & Holt line steamship Tennyson on two Germans named Neworth and Phediman.

The police say the men cannot be found and that the Bahia office of the Siemens Co., of which Neworth was the agent, has been closed.

On Feb. 21 the British steamship Tennyson put into port at Maranhao, badly damaged as the result of a bomb explosion which caused the death of three of the crew, an American, an Englishman and a Dutchman. It was later stated that a box containing the bomb had been put on board the steamship at Bahia by instruction of a German merchant.

CLUBS WAIVE ON WOOD

NOT ONE OF MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS
WILLING TO TAKE CHANCE ON
RED SOX PITCHER

BOSTON, March 1.—All the clubs in the American National League have waived the right to the services of Joe Wood, Boston Red Sox pitcher, at the purchase price of $2500.

This means that not one of the major league clubs cares to take a chance that Joe will return to old-time form. If Wood were a free agent and could guarantee that he is physically fit to hold up his end as a major league pitcher, every club in both leagues would willingly go the limit to secure him.

Wood, it is said, was under the impression that most of the major league clubs would be only too glad to obtain his services and that he would be able to obtain better inducements than Boston offered to do the uniform this season. Now that all have refused to consider the $2500 draft price, considering the amount of salary he would demand, it seems to be a clear case of coming to an agreement with President Knab. The latter says he named the limit he is willing to pay in the contract sent to Joe, calling for as much as the statemen of the world's series received.

Joe continues with the Red Sox, and produces the goods, a raise of salary would be in order. Joe Wood received $11,500 last season from the Boston Red Sox—pretty good treatment for a man who had an off-year. The Red Sox management has treated Joe well and now it would seem that it is up to him to prove that he can come back with a demand for anything except the state house later on. "SOME" REFEREE

Charlie White Has Called the Count in Many Important Battles

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—"How will I refer to the boys? Just as I have referred every other boy in my life. I will see that the rules are obeyed, and that the fight is fair. What more can I say?" says the Brooklyn Eagle.

The speaker was a clean shaven, bald-headed man of middle life, who would pass without exciting comment at any gathering in Little New York. With the exception of his eyes, there is nothing particularly out of the ordinary in Charlie White, the man chosen to referee the Willard-Moran fight. Even his bald and shiny dome is not particularly unique. You can easily find his mate in the front row at any Broadway musical comedy. Not that Charlie White frequents front seats at musical shows. Oh, dear no. Still he could if he would, for that dome is a splendid Annie Oakley.

But those eyes are a little out of the ordinary. They are deeply set, and they look through you in a cold and calculating way that leaves the impression that the owner is a man who is going to referee the big bout in Madison Square Garden. "Old Good Eye" is what he is called, and "Old Good Eye" is a splendid sobriquet.

The selection of Charlie White came as a decided surprise to the majority of the followers of the sport, as Old Good Eye's name never had been mentioned. It had been rumored that Bill Brown, Jack Skelly or Jim Jeffries would be the third man in the ring. The former champion was quickly forgotten, and on the day of the big meeting the referee question was settled down to a battle between the followers of Skelly and Brown. Suddenly White's name was suggested, and Old Good Eye got the job.

White is proud of the fact that he was the official in four championship battles that saw the titles change, and of the fact that he was alternate referee in the Jeffries-Johnson battle, a fight that had Tex Rickard as the third man in the ring, and generally all around proud of his long and splendid work.

"The coming fight is by no means the first championship battle that I have refereed," said White. "I have been the third man in the ring on more than one important occasion. However, it is not the championship battles that make a man. It is the years of work in minor affairs that gain the confidence of the public and just forces you into the ring when something important is happening."

"No man who breaks faith with the public in minor fights need expect to referee an important bout. No matter if you are only the official in a preliminary bout at some unknown club, you will make a popular referee."

In an offhand way it was suggested that the referee should also know the rules. With a snort, White replied that no man belonged in the ring, be he fighter or boxer, who did not know the rules. By the way, if the boxing commission passed such a rule, it would save mighty few people in Little New York eligible to step into a ring. Still, that is another story. This one has to do with Charlie White.

It was Charlie White who crowned the featherweight champion of the world, when he defeated Joe Walcott, and it was the Old Good Eye who counted out Frank Erne in the first round of that memorable fight at Port Erie, that made Joe Gans the lightweight champion. He also gave Ben Jordan the featherweight championship, taking the title away from George Dixon.

Also he gave the glove to Young Corbett, after the latter had knocked out Terry McGovern in that history-making fight at Hartford, Conn. Some nights for a man to officiate.

You may have noticed that all of these championship battles have been among little fellows. Also if you have seen White working during the past few years, it may come to mind that he rather enjoys breaking men apart by bodily force. How is he going to turn the trick with Willard and Moran? The same way he turned the trick when he was the referee of Jeffries-Corbett, Fitzsimmons-Sharkey, and Peter Maher and a dozen or more contests between men who are as big as the fighters who are to meet.

"Don't worry, little one, be they big or small, they all look the same to Charlie White when he is the third man in the ring. They have to fight, and he is the job, or Charlie White over the ropes, beats it down the aisle, leaving the boxers to take it out the best way they can."

You can't fool Old Good Eye, and Old Good Eye won't let you fool the public. That is why people are beginning to think that there may be something in doing as Charlie White does. As Bernard Shaw said: "You never can tell." Still, ten rounds are ten rounds, and the chances are very much against Charlie White crowning his fifth world's champion when Moran meets Jess Willard.

NEWARK, N. J., March 1.—Fred Tenney, the new manager of the Newark International League baseball team, made a visit to this city the other day. Tenney inspected both the Federal league grounds and Wiedenmayer's park and declared he was undecided which would be more suitable for the coming season. Tenney said he intended to be a player-manager.

"I am only 44 years old," he said, "and in a pinch believe I can show that I have much baseball playing ability left."

Newark's new manager said when he and James R. Price, the president of the club, purchased the Newark franchise they obtained the players, seven of whom were on the old Newark team when it was transferred to Harrison last season. There is to be no expensive training trip for the Newark team this year.

WHITE WAYS GET JUMP

WIN FIRST GAME OF SERIES FROM THE CRESCENTS FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

The White Ways handed the Crescent bowling quintet a decisive beating last night on a Middlesex street alley in the first game of the series for the city championship and a purse of $200.

The White Ways collected 195 sticks while all the Crescents could gather was 152 sticks of wood.

The Crescents were outwitted individually and collectively by the White Ways. Johnson of the Crescents was the only one of the ten men rolling to register a mark below 300. Bernadine was high man for the White Ways with a total of 342 and he was closely trailed by his teammates, Kempton and Cole. Jewett, with a total of 320 was the honor man for the Crescent aggregation.

The breaking up of noted baseball combinations seems to react, in a way, on the component parts. Take, for example, the Athletics' great infield. The famous Melhous, Colles, Barry and Baker in combination were a household word. But separately—scattered—one doesn't hear so much of them, though their individual skill and worth be as great as ever.

Although the Pittsburgh club has as yet purchased no Federal stars or made any deal for star players, President Braggs has paid out $10,000 for eight new players secured by draft or purchase. They are Schmidt, Blackwell, Miller, Jacobs, Douglas, Schultz, Madien and Cleveland. These, with Slattery, Siglin, McAuley and Altemura, who were tried briefly last season, give a total of 12 new players.

BILLARD PAYS $1,250,000

Suit Brought By New Haven to Recover Alleged Profits Due in Purchase of B. & M. Stock Settled

NEW YORK, March 1.—The suit brought by the present administration of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad to recover $2,700,000 from Charles S. Billard, former president of the road, John L. Billard of Meriden, Conn., Edward D. Robbins, former general counsel, Samuel Huntington of New Haven, and others alleged to have been due the New Haven in transactions with the Billard Co., has been settled out of court. The New Haven Co. announced here today that the suit had been dropped by the payment to the New Haven of $1,250,000 in cash.

The Billard Co. was the vehicle for a number of other New Haven financial transactions down to the time when Mr. Robbins resigned in 1913 and the new administration came into power. Edward S. Robbins, according to testimony in the recent trial, engineered several of these transactions and was responsible. It was testified, for the secret transfer of the Billard Co.'s books and assets to Canada at the time the government was seeking them. The Billard Co. was alleged, was used to transfer the assets of the New Haven to the Billard Co. in 1908, during the administration of Charles S. Billard as president of the road. 115,000 shares of Boston & Maine stock at $125 and sold it back a year later at $150. It was alleged that Billard was acting in the interests of the New Haven and that the deal was a fictitious transaction. The New Haven at that time was for-bidden by the Massachusetts laws to own the Boston & Maine and it was charged that Billard assumed title to the stock to enable the New Haven to inform the Massachusetts authorities that they did not own control of the Boston & Maine.

Later the New Haven was authorized by an act of the Massachusetts legislature to acquire the Boston & Maine and the holdings of Billard were sold back to the road.

Billard's net profit in the deal was about $2,700,000, but this was reduced by other transactions between the New Haven and the John L. Billard Co., which was organized. According to testimony in the recent criminal action brought by the government under the Sherman anti-trust law against former directors of the New Haven, Billard personally did not get but $50,000. During the trial of the case it was contended by the defendants that the Billard transaction was bona fide. It was brought out by the government that Billard was, however, financed in the deal by the New Haven and never put up a cent of his own money. Among other defendants in the Billard suit who share in the payment of the settlement money, were Mr. Robbins and Edward D. Robbins, former counsel of the New Haven. Samuel Huntington, president of the Boston & Maine bank of New Haven, at one time an officer of the Billard Co., was also a defendant. The suit was originally for $2,700,000, brought in Connecticut courts. The settlement represents a compromise.

BILLARD REFUSES

MERIDEN, Conn., March 1.—John L. Billard declined today to make any comment on the announcement of the settlement of the suit of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad against him and others in connection with the Boston & Maine transaction.

Samuel S. Cummings of Stamford, counsel for Mr. Billard and others in the suit, made this comment at Bridgeport today:

"The statement as given out by the railroad company accurately expresses the situation. I do not care to make any further comment."

Machinery is being received and installed daily at the plant of the Newton Manufacturing Co. in Atherton and it is expected that a number of hands will be employed within a few weeks. The delay in starting up the plant is due to the inability of the company to obtain machinery. By July, if everything goes right the plant will be running to capacity. The company has orders enough on hand to insure two years' work.

A very pleasant social gathering was held last night at the home of Miss Margaret Costello, 63 Lawrence street in honor of Miss Agnes Mahoney, who is soon to be married. Miss Mahoney was the recipient of many useful and costly gifts. A delightful musical program to which the following contributed was carried out: Misses Esther Kinch, Margaret Costello, Theresa Dawson, Master William Moynan and others. Refreshments were served and the party broke up at a late hour.

Dangling at the end of a rope with nothing but a misty atmosphere between her and the base of the chasm 6000 feet below; snow bound in a cabin with none but a beast of a man as a companion, swept away pell-mell by an avalanche, home belongings and all; half starved, bewildered and on the verge of nervous collapse, such were some of this daring young lady's experiences in "Out of the Drifts."

"The Rack" did not die out with the dark ages. Blanche Gordon (Alice Brady) discovered the drinking deep of the first of life's bitter draught. A wonderfully vivid and startling production of a great drama holding a merciless mirror to modern life and human relations. Big cast of Broadway favorites.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

Is it possible that any intelligent citizen of Lowell thinks that the efforts of several gentlemen to safeguard children from death should not be regarded by the public seriously, and that their request for action on the part of the municipal council should be treated as a joke?

Considering the death toll of children due to the indifference and negligence of the city of Lowell and the Locks and Canals corporation, it becomes any member of the municipal council flippantly disposing of the matter with cheap attempts at wit. Jokes have no part in a matter that means safety for our children and the lessening of sorrow in a mother's heart.

Transfers No Good

A buxom woman weighting about 255 climbed with difficulty to the jitney, pulled her bundles in her lap and settled herself for a comfortable ride home. But a thought struck her as she brought forth a transfer check, and a look of dismay came across her not unkindly face. "There!" she exclaimed, "you don't take transfers do you?" The jitney man allowed that indeed he had no use for 'em in his business.

Whether the lady felt morally obliged to make use of that transfer, or whether she was of the real economical kind Mr. Jitney didn't know. While he would gladly have taken her home, he reflected as the lady laboriously climbed out, that she had taken fully three-quarters of the back seat and might have proven a rather expensive passenger.

Boxing Exhibitions

The granting of a license to the Triangle club to give boxing exhibitions is a just recognition of the rights of many of our citizens who enjoy such exhibitions. It is also recognition of an art which rightly fostered means the revival of the good old English method of instilling nerve, endurance and the too common custom of many of our future citizens of settling disputes by knife or gun. Interest our but blooded population in the fistie art and we shall have gone a long distance in abating the use of deadly weapons, and make them better men. I bespeak for the Triangle club long life and a successful and useful career. It shall be guided by good judgment and ever observe both the letter and the spirit of the law.

Coasting Dangers

Several small boys coasting down London street on a double-runner the other evening narrowly escaped at least serious injury. As the double-sid into Gorham street an auto moving smartly down was obliged to swerve on to the sidewalk while the kids threw themselves from the sled leaving the latter to receive the compliments of the auto. There were several anxious moments for the driver of the auto as well as for the kids. Quick action and quick thinking to which we may add the proverbial luck presiding over the average small boy, prevented what might have resulted in a fatality or two. However, we may witness children taking these chances all over the city when sleds are in commission.

Charles W. Morey

The late Charles W. Morey, who was a teacher in our public schools for 36 consecutive years—34 as principal of the Highland grammar school—was something more than a direct-mentor of the education of our youth, although that in itself were a vocation calling for our highest respect and consideration since there is no work that stands higher or nobler among man's sphere of doing.

Those who knew Mr. Morey best—and there were many in Lowell who knew him from boyhood—while saddened by the loss of their friend, take solemn pride in the friendship he felt for them, and are grateful for the years which fortune permitted them to spend with him. His part to me and hold friends was simply an expression of that broad and abundant sympathy, which indeed was the dominant note of a character singularly strong and admirable. Earnest and straightforward where many of us vacillate, among whom many of us were weak, wholly devoted where many of us are half-hearted, Charles Morey appeared to us as the ideal school master, thoroughly equipped for his chosen work. That he was admirably fitted mentally and temperamentally for the profession of a teacher we know. His good influence upon the lives and characters of hundreds and thousands of scholars of the Highland school must stand as the best monument to his memory. You cannot find one scholar who went through the Highland school to speak highly but in love and respect of his principal. Many of them have told me: "He was my best friend, I owe him more than I can tell" and when a boy or a girl or even many a grown-up man says things like that, it tributes to Charles Morey's worth as a man and teacher, and as a friend. It is a tribute which the good offices of the scribe or orator were hollow sounds.

Thus it is that an unusual number of the people of Lowell feel that the city has sustained a great loss in the death of Mr. Morey and thus in the loss of a man whose life had touched thousands of people.

morning at 8.30 o'clock from her late home, 309 West Sixth street and proceeded to St. Michael's church where, at 9 o'clock, a high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. James P. Lynch. REUNION OF ST. MICHAEL'S

Associate Hall Crowded by Devoted Members of Parish—Fine Entertainment

One of the most enjoyable and most successful events in the history of St. Michael's parish was the annual reunion of its members which was held last evening at the associate hall. Much to the credit of the priests of the parish and the committee in charge of the affair, the hall was taxed to its capacity and the receipts of the evening through the sale of tickets as well as through the disposal of the various good things which were on the sales tables, the receipts were quite substantial.

The hall was handsomely decorated for the occasion, while the beautiful rows of the female members of the party, greatly added to the brilliancy of the affair. The side walls and pillars of the hall were decorated with bunting of the national colors, intermingled with yellow and pink streamers, which extended to the center chandelier. The booths and tables on both sides of the main floor were also prettily set with soft colored bunting. The stage was decked with potted plants and flowers and the scene was most attractive.

Present at the gathering were the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw, who was warmly greeted by his parishioners, Rev. Francis J. Mullin and other members of the clergy. Rev. Fr. Mullin had charge of the entertainment program which was one of rare excellence.

The musical sketch was entitled "The Fourth Commandment," and was ably presented by the following: Miss Alice Gilligan, William F. Thornton, Z. I. Bissonnette, Jr. and James E. Donnelly. The affair, which proved very interesting was presented under the personal direction of Frank Deignan, while Mr. Thornton had charge of the staging.

The second part of the program, the minstrel sketch, consisted of the following:

ANTISEPTIC FOOT AID

Instant relief is at hand for those who suffer at this season with frost bites and chilblains if they will get from any drug store a small bottle of Minard's Liniment. It frees you from all foot troubles. For nothing you have ever used is as good for tired, aching, sore feet. It is wonderfully antiseptic, absolutely pure, easy and clean to use—does not stain and is penetrating and helpful.

JUMPED TO HIS DEATH

FALL RIVER REAL ESTATE OWNER
Escaped from attendant and jumped from third story

FALL RIVER, March 1.—Thomas Lewis, a well to do real estate owner of this city, who had been in poor health for some time, escaped from an attendant at a local hotel today and fell or jumped from a third story window to the street and was dead when picked up by a policeman.

HALT DRIVE ON VERDUN BURNED THEIR MORTGAGE

Lull Along Entire Front—Situation Satisfactory to Allies, Says Paris —Other War News

The German offensive against Verdun, which had brought the crown prince's armies up the inner line of French defenses has halted there, according to today's official statement from Paris.

The lull which yesterday gave signs of settling in now extends along virtually the entire front where the desperate struggles of the past week and more have been going on. There were no important developments at any point during the night, the French war office reports.

Unofficial commentators in military capitals admit themselves at a loss to determine as yet whether the German drive has spent its force or whether the pause is simply the prelude to its renewal before the hard won positions at Verdun or elsewhere on the front.

Possibly significant in this connection is the French official statement that there are signs of German preparation behind the front west of Pont-a-Mousson, 18 miles southwest of Metz, and in the Moselle river region. The French have been pounding the second and third line German positions here, while an intermittent bombardment has been going on at various points between Regnierville and Remenauville, some half dozen miles west of Pont-a-Mousson.

Today's bulletin from Berlin confirms the French account of infantry inactivity along the front, the Verdun operations not being mentioned in the official statement. It is announced, however, that the artillery, particularly that of the allies, was notably active in various sections of the front, the region between the Meuse and the Moselle, the Champagne and Yser region being particularly mentioned. The bringing down of three allied aeroplanes by the Germans was also announced.

Apparently the recent German attack in the Champagne was nothing more than one of the numerous local operations such as the Germans carried out in several sectors of the front from time to time in the three weeks preceding the Verdun offensive, as it has not so far been followed up. Dispatches indicate the opinions of military observers are that the German offensive, if it broadened appreciably, would be more likely to spread to the south than the north, the many signs of activity along the lines in upper Alsace and down to the Swiss border being pointed to in this connection.

Paris dispatches declare the situation north of Verdun satisfactory. French, who have strongly fortified their positions from Cote du Poivre, four miles due north, to Douaumont, three miles to the east, along which line the German pressure above Verdun has been heaviest, the Germans are reported still cut off in the fort which the French have surrounded.

To Declare War on Germany

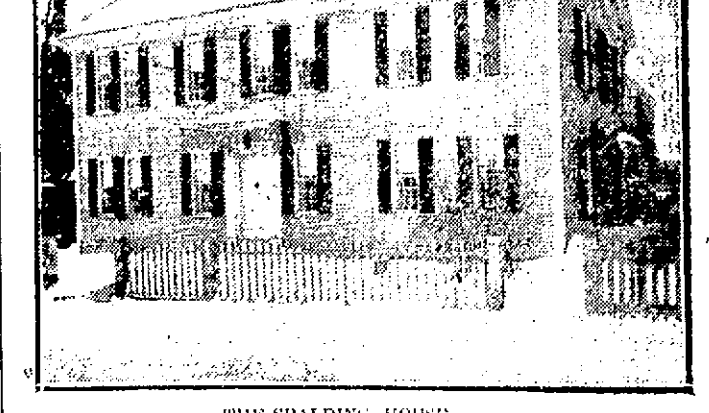

In the Italian parliament, which re-assembles today, it is expected that the question of a declaration of war by Italy against all the foes of the entente powers will be brought up. Italy has never declared war on Germany.

Last Day for Enlistment

Today is the last day for voluntary enlistment in Great Britain, the conscription measure hereafter being effective. London advises that considerable numbers of recruits presenting themselves during the past few days but no overwhelming rush to volunteer.

SITUATION AROUND VERDUN NOW WELL IN HAND, SAYS PARIS

PARIS, Feb. 29 (Delayed).—That the situation around Verdun is now well in hand and considered quite satisfactory from the French point of view is freely stated by the military experts. At the northeastern part of the strongly held chief effort of the Germans seems to be directed to the rescue of the Brandenburgers who remain cooped up in the ruined casements of Fort Douaumont. The developments of the German operations south-east of Verdun is interpreted by the observers as preliminary to an attempt to assault the French positions on the Meuse heights through two principal gaps through the woods which are protected by Fort Tancrède, east by northeast of Verdun and southeast of Fort Tancrède.

Spalding House Clear of Debt as Home of Molly Varnum Chapter, D. A. R.—Great Rejoicing

Yesterday was a red letter day in the history of the Molly Varnum chapter, D. A. R., for at a most enthusiastic and inspiring gathering in the afternoon was burned the mortgage on the historic and storied Spalding house, the home of the society for ten years. This marks the culmination of a notable effort to save from time and vandalism one of our most treasured relics of the past and to perpetuate it as a monument of Colonial times and an inspiration to the future.

Lowell owes a deep debt of gratitude to the earnest band of women who have so nobly worked to perpetuate our patriotic traditions and to save the records of our early history. Especial thanks is due Mrs. Mary G. Morrison, whose zeal and generosity swept away all obstacles and inspired all officers and members to work for the preservation of the Spalding house. It is now freed from debt and is the unencumbered property of the chapter and of the city.

The meeting yesterday opened at 4 p. m. with a large attendance including members of the Molly Varnum chapter and invited friends. Several of the ex-regents were present and had a part in the program. Mrs. B. H. Wiggin, the present regent, presided and made helpful introductions to the various exercises of the afternoon. The singing of "America," and the first speaker was Miss Mary A. Webster, who reviewed briefly the purchase of the property in 1906. Among the first contributors was the Pentucket Lodge of Masons which donated $500 in aid of the Spalding and also to incorporate the founding of the lodge in the famous old house. A tablet setting forth the facts is now in the room that served as Dr. Spalding's library.

Mrs. Thomas Nesmith was scheduled to speak and was unavoidably absent. Mrs. Charles E. Howe, former regent and strenuous worker as leader of one of the groups of 20, spoke in a vein of exhilaration, followed by Miss M. Ida Howe, Mrs. George L. Richardson, chairman of the ways and means committee and also to incorporate the founding of the lodge in the famous old house. AT ST. ANNE'S PARISH HOUSE

Forty of the younger boys of St. Anne's church, many of them choir members, filled the stage in St. Anne's parish house last night and gave an excellent entertainment that delighted an audience taxing the seating capacity of the hall. They presented a well arranged program of songs and jokes that were all to the merrily. The musical program was as follows: Overture, "Star Spangled Banner," company; "Keep the Home Fires Burning," Iver Johnson; "Molly Dear, It's You I'm After," Harold Moore; "Song of Songs," Roy Rogers; "Tennessee," Fred Gibson; "Home, Rock, Dixie," Herbert Harris; "Little Gray Mother," Ernest Haussler; "Don't Bite the Hand That's Feeding You," Winston Rouse; "When I Get Back to Bonnie Scotland," Wilfred Clayton; "Mother," Ronald Worth; "America, I Love You," Richard Collins; "Ypsanti," James Kelly; "Place of My Country," company. As an added feature Lawrence Bottomley sang two pleasing songs.

Orchestral music was furnished by the symphony orchestra of St. Anne's, while the piano accompaniments were played by Miss Amy Williams. A pleasant incident was the presentation of a beautiful bouquet of flowers to Rev. Appleton Grannis, rector, by the boys. The presentation being made by David Brown, Mr. Grannis pleasantly acknowledged the gift.

The entertainment was followed by general chatting, which was enjoyed until 11 o'clock. The boys of the church had entire charge of the show. The executive committee included Archie Campbell, Leslie Clayton and James Kelly. James Kibber was stage manager.

SAFEST and BEST

FROM now on, the Standard Oil Company of New York's best grade of refined oil will be sold by name—SOCONY (So-CO-ny) Kerosene Oil.

It was the Standard Oil Company which was responsible for making kerosene a safe and reliable fuel in the early days of the petroleum industry.

Today SOCONY, which is the trademarked name we have given to our best grade of kerosene, represents the last word in the refining of kerosene oil.

All kerosene is not alike by any means. And the good kind is enough better to be decidedly worth asking for. If you want the most heat from your stoves and heaters, most light from your lamps and lanterns, with complete freedom from smoke and odor, order SOCONY Kerosene by name.

Dealers who carry genuine SOCONY Kerosene Oil display the SOCONY sign in their windows. Look for this sign. It is the sign of quality and the world's best kerosene.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Rep. Murphy On Important Committee—B. & M. Issues Good Statement—Flurry On Lodge

Special to The Sun
 STATE HOUSE, Boston, March 1.—Rep. Dennis A. Murphy of Lowell has been selected as a member of a sub-committee of the house committee on ways and means, which has been charged with the duty of finding some way of preventing heads of state departments and institutions from overrunning the appropriations allowed them by the legislature.

As the first step in the crusade, the sub-committee has summoned the chairman of every state commission, and the head of every state institution, to the state house tomorrow morning; they will be put "on the carpet," especially those who exceeded their appropriations last year, and will be told in plain language that the ways and means committee intends that its allowances shall be considered as final.

Last year, certain institutions and departments expended an aggregate of $17,000 more than was allowed them by the committee, and although this amount is somewhat smaller than has recently been the case in late years, members of the committee feel that the department heads show too little respect for the acts of the legislature, and in certain cases are going so far ahead and making such expenditures as they see fit, even though the ways and means committee has refused to make appropriations therefor.

The other members of the sub-committee are Reps. Lyman of Easthampton and Young of Weston.

Issues Good Statement
 The Boston & Maine statement for January is the best one yet issued, showing an increase of $141,490 in the net income after all charges have been paid. This gain represents the increase for the first seven months of the fiscal year up to $255,961, equal to nearly 6 per cent. on the capital stock.

The reversal in form shown by the Boston & Maine has come at just the right time to furnish a basis for a plan to place it in a strong financial position, without compelling any large sacrifice on the part of the stockholders. Undoubtedly the war has been the main cause for the great increase in earnings, but nevertheless the stockholders now have the chance they have been waiting for.

The gain in freight earnings in January was remarkable, being $775,287, or nearly 40 per cent. A very favorable feature, also, was a gain in the passenger earnings of $10,946, breaking a long line of decreases since 1910. In fact, the passenger earnings for the seven months show a decrease of $69,924, while the freight earnings for that period show an increase of $2,197,776. It is clear that operating expenses have been held down so far as they could be for the total for seven months shows a decrease of $589,493. In January there was an increase in operating expenses, however, undoubtedly in connection with the heavy movement of freight.

The January statement shows: Total operating revenue, $4,205,051, an increase of $84,327; operating income, $775,287, an increase of $10,946; gross income, $1,014,087, an increase of $544,568; charges, $534,547, an increase of $100,967; and net income, $109,539, an increase of $44,490.

Workmen's Compensation Law
 A most important change in the workmen's compensation law was reported in the senate yesterday afternoon, with the unanimous endorsement of the judiciary committee. The bill reported provides that compensation for accidents shall begin on the 11th day after injury, provided incapacity continues that long. At present no compensation is paid until the 15th day after the injury.

The bill reported was represented to the legislature on recommendation of the industrial accident board, and having the endorsement of that board, as well as of the judiciary committee, it is expected to pass. Its effect will be to increase materially the benefits paid to injured workmen, for it means that each man incapacitated for more than two weeks will get four days' additional compensation, but also that those whose incapacity is ended just short of 14 days will also obtain some compensation, although slight.

Another important provision of the reported bill is that when compensation is begun, for an indeterminate period, it shall not be stopped without the consent of the injured employee, or the approval of the industrial accident board. In the past certain companies have been in the habit of suspending compensation when in their judgment the employee was sufficiently recovered to enable him to return to work, and it was placed upon him to prove that he was not able to work. Under the new bill, this burden of proof is transferred to the insurance company.

The committee declined, however, to report another provision, recommendation of the industrial accident board, that in cases where incapacity continues for more than twenty-eight days, compensation shall be paid from the day of the injury. Members of the committee state that in their opinion it is essential that some waiting period be retained in all cases, in order to prevent feigned incapacity.

There was a brief flurry in the senate yesterday, in which Henry Cabot Lodge proved the central figure. Sen. Brown of Gloucester, in seeking for message of resolutions urging congress to take steps to do away with the menace to navigation which exists in Rockport harbor by reason of an unfinished breakwater, asked the members not to be led to oppose the bill because of the letter from Lodge, read last week, for the purpose of defeating resolutions in favor of pensioning letter carriers. He said the senior senator telephoned to him from Washington Monday morning, stating that his letter was intended to refer only to matters which are not strictly local to Massachusetts, and that he had not intended that it should be given to the public anyway.

Sen. Hobbs of Worcester, who had read the letter to the senate, mildly resented what he thought was an intimation that he had read publicly a private letter. "If the public shall be informed as to his attitude on public questions, he should be more careful about his correspondence," was Sen. Hobbs' comment. The resolutions were adopted, 15 to 3.

KITCHEN KLUB

Big Mid-Winter Soiree at Old Washington Tavern

The Kitchen Klub, an association that includes a goodly number of convivial souls, all of whom are modest to a fault, held a mid-winter soiree at the Old Washington Tavern last night. There were about 50 present, including undertakers and American citizens. The dinner was one of chicken and other things, and to remark that it was served by Jim Smith means "junk" said. Secretary William Higgins was the toastmaster for the evening.

The members of this powerful but not widely known organization lined up along the walls when supper was announced the same as Villa arranges Carranza men and stood at attention while President Emmons intimated something gave the command to drink. The libation at each plate was lifted to the lips preparatory to being quaffed and there was a look of general dismay when it was ascertained beyond the shadow of doubt, that the libation was nothing more emotional than grape juice and in disgust the membership took seats and waited.

After the dinner had ended the program of entertainment was begun and while other organizations may boast of orators and vocalists, there's none to compare with the Kitchen Klub. Because a gavel would not make enough noise to attract attention to his insignificance, the toastmaster used a giant electric horn to call the assembly from disorder to respectful silence. In reporting this very delightful affair we do not intend to budge one inch from the truth, and just for that we will have to state that the program consisted of three and a half hours of speeches on all conceivable and imaginable subjects by ex-President Freckhills. At times when he became fatigued he would allow some other white American to talk for a few seconds, after which he would horn his way back to the hustings and go on refreshed. He was awarded three medals for Marathon oratory.

The toastmaster called upon the president to read a history of the Kitchen Klub. The president refused to read from manuscript and spoke extemporaneously for fear that if he read a lecture on the club's history, he might be put in the ex-president's class or in jail. He also said it was not possible to read a history of the club because the club has no history. All it has is a record. The president closed his talk with a rhyme entitled "The Gasple." The rhyme:

He didn't know a single thing,
 And did he know he didn't know it,
 Therefore he kept his tongue a-swing,
 And spared no vocal pains to show it.

He talked about the war—poor boob—
 Assaulting off the English tongue
 By shooting through his hot-air tube.
 The worst mistakes he've yet heard spouting.

And did he whisper it discreetly?
 And did he yearn to be corrected?
 Ah, no! He warbled loud and fleetly,
 No humbleness could be detected.

He bawled about the "non-remedies"
 He said, "Oh, little-jerrets"—a great Caesar!
 I listened to his raucous blasts
 Till I was crazy as a Greaser.

Yet was this critic an exception
 To others that one daily meets?
 Was I alone, in all this Devon
 Blue-ribbon ship of all the streets?

Nay, nay! Although he was a fright,
 And though his loud-voiced voice was ample,
 I should be doing less than right,
 To call him other than a sample.

The next speaker was introduced after a merciless character assassination at the hands of the toastmaster. He was Michael Bailey and he delivered a very interesting talk on the Pexaval canal and on the new bridges which he carried in Washington and other places. Miss Hoss Garity paid his respects to the assemblage. He said he was not blind to the fact that he was taking a big risk in harboring them, yet the element of danger carried with it a most peculiar fascination, and he would rather take a chance, he said, than miss the fun. It was a great evening.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

If little stomach is sour, liver torpid or bowels clogged

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs" because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can't cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

BROADWAY SOCIAL CLUB
 Members of the Broadway Social and Athletic club were hosts last evening to a large number of friends at the Pawtucket boat house where a successful dancing party and ladies' night was held in connection with the club's annual event to take place in April. A large number of young people attended and participated in the program arranged by the efficient committee in charge. The cosy hall was prettily decorated with bunting and flowers, pink and white being the color scheme. By Miner's orchestra, a musical program, consisting of solos by the following, was presented: Thomas Delmore, John Neeson, Mrs. Nora Longton, James E. Donnelly, Miss Evelyn Benoit, James Dowling, James E. Shugrue, David Boyle and James Igoe. The committee in charge of the affair comprised William Madden, chairman; Garret Royal, Thomas Rogers, William Marcott and Fred Campbell. Peter E. Brady was the treasurer.

ROGER BARRINGTON HURT
 While working on the construction of the new high school in Main street, Billerica, late yesterday afternoon, Roger Barrington, a carpenter residing in North Billerica, fell from a staging and sustained internal injuries which may prove serious. Mr. Barrington was working about 15 feet from the ground when he tripped and fell. He was taken to his home where he was treated by Dr. Neil G. Forhan.

WILLIAM F. THORNTON APPEARED
 Attendance Officer William F. Thornton of this city appeared before the committee on public service at the state house yesterday and urged favorable action on a bill which would place school attendance officers in the towns of the state under civil service. He said that the state has not enforced the child labor laws as they should and named as one good reason why the attendance officers should be placed under the civil service the fact that in many towns, manufacturers with large establishments are frequently members of the school board, with the consequent result that attendance officers find it very hard to

RATES ON TRANS-ATLANTIC STEAMERS AND CARGOES ADVANCED TODAY

NEW YORK, March 1.—Rates of war risk insurance on trans-Atlantic steamers and cargoes had advanced today in anticipation of the endorsement of Germany's policy of sinking armed merchant ships without warning. The quotation on vessels bound for Mediterranean ports was increased to two per cent upon the receipt of cables from London saying that a similar rate had been imposed there. Previously the rate here had been about one per cent but ranging upward to 1½ on specially valuable cargoes.

The war risk quotation on vessels destined to English and French ports also stiffened and ranged from 1 to 1½ per cent.

The reported presence of German raiders off the coast of Brazil caused the war rates on belligerent merchant ships in the South American trade to stand firmly at 3 per cent.

increases shown by Mr. Paige were as follows: Charity department, $16,000; police, $15,000; streets, $25,000; health, $11,000; highways, $25,000; fire, $15,000; building, $15,000; schools, $15,000; messenger's department, $1,500. These, the auditor said, were not all of the increases. He said the total increase would figure $175,000, whereas the total of receipts for all departments has increased only $140,000 in the same period, or since 1912.

Mayor O'Donnell called the meeting to order at 11:15 o'clock and the first matter taken up had to do with structural steel for the high school. The commissioner of public property was instructed to make requisition through the proper channel, the purchasing agent's office, for 1900 tons of structural steel for the proposed school building, and he was also instructed to make requisition for 500 tons of another kind of steel to be used in connection with the new school.

The mayor then took up the matter of the estimates. He said that the commissioner of finance and the city auditor had gone over the budget as passed upon yesterday and found that unless the assessors should discover considerable new property the tax rate for 1916 would be approximately $22.13, an increase of $1.33 over the present rate. He said the commissioner of finance had suggested that further reductions be made in the estimates, whereupon the mayor, himself, started the ball rolling by moving that the council attempt a revision of the figures.

Council Starts Striking

The sum of $100,000 had been allowed the police department and on suggestion of Mr. Duncan the amount was reduced to $107,000. It was also voted to cut the $150 for police storage batteries.

The appropriation for the health office was reduced $1000.

The sum of $1000 was stricken from

the health department yard.

The sum of $5000 was stricken from the charity department, though the mayor said he felt it would be absolutely necessary to come back later on and ask for assistance. "I think it isn't the honest way to do it, but I don't intend to stand in the way of progress," said the mayor.

Mr. Duncan allowed, however, that because of the unusual prosperity at the present time the expenses of the charity department would probably be less than in the "lean years."

"We are absolutely responsible for all increases in the tax rate. The people will not recognize the fact that the state piles responsibility after responsibility upon us, and we will have to do the cutting regardless of conditions," said Mr. Duncan.

For Dependent Mothers

The suggestion was made by Mr. Duncan that the sum of $5000 be stricken from the appropriation for mothers with dependent children. The sum of $5000 was asked. The mayor said it was wrong to reduce this particular appropriation, for he felt it would be absolutely necessary to ask for assistance later on.

The matter was put to a vote and Mr. Duncan's motion was defeated, receiving only his own and Mr. Putnam's vote.

The next up was the street department.

ment, for which $165,000 was allowed

yesterday.

"How much do you intend to ask for in loan?" queried Mr. Duncan.

"About the same as last year," said Mr. Morse.

"I think we should charge more labor to loans and less to street maintenance," said Mr. Duncan, "and I want to say that Mr. Morse is getting $29,000 more this year than he had last year."

Mr. Morse couldn't see that Mr. Duncan assured him he would get more transfers this year than last.

"I move that Mr. Morse be allowed $155,000, instead of $165,000," said the mayor.

"Good heavens, that will swamp me. Give me $160,000," says Mr. Morse.

"The city auditor will get bigger transfers this year," said Mr. Duncan.

"Perhaps the city auditor ought to have charge of streets," said Mr. Morse.

Mr. Morse city auditor explained that under a better system of bookkeeping in the street department office, Mr. Morse could get back from $25,000 to $30,000 annually. The mayor's motion was then put and carried. Mr. Morse voting against.

The Fire Department

The mayor moved that $1000 be stricken from the fire department and that the $2500 for district chiefs' automobiles be stricken out. It was so

IN MILADY'S BOUDOIR

BEAUTIFUL MIDDLE AGE

At forty a woman must begin to take measures, usually, to avoid a superabundance of fat, must adopt reasonable exercise and a diet that will keep the physical condition active and healthy.

The following indoor exercises will serve, in a measure, but there are many others that one may adopt. All indoor exercises should be in a room where plenty of fresh and pure air is in circulation.

The first exercise is taken as follows: Standing erect, arms at side, the fists are clenched and brought upward. The arms are then quickly thrust forward as though striking some object, and then, with equal force the elbows are projected backward as far as possible. This movement may be repeated ten or twelve times and then varied by bending the elbows and bringing the fists up to the shoulders, then with force quickly extended over the head. The arms are lowered to the sides by reversing the movements for the same number of times.

To perform the second exercise one must be seated on the floor, and either have someone to hold their feet, or a small heavy object under which the feet may be projected. With the feet held down and the hands resting on the hips, begin by slowly bending the trunk backward until the floor is reached. After a few seconds rest, throw out the chest with the hands still on the hips, bring the shoulders back and then slowly assume an upright, sitting position, the head leaving the floor last.

To derive the most benefit from this exercise, the elbows or hands must not, at anytime, touch the floor.

EXPLOSION ON STEAMER

POLICE BLAME TWO GERMANS FOR BOMB EXPLOSION ON LINER TENNYSON

RIO JANEIRO, March 1.—A despatch from Bahia says that the police authorities there, as the result of an investigation which they have made, place the responsibility for the bomb explosion on the Lamport & Holt steamship Tennyson on two Germans named Neworth and Phediman.

The police say the men cannot be found and that the Bahia office of the Siemens Co., of which Neworth was the agent, has been closed.

On Feb. 21 the British steamship Tennyson put into port at Maranhao, badly damaged as the result of a bomb explosion which caused the death of three of the crew, an American, an Englishman and a Dutchman. It was later stated that a box containing the bomb had been put on board the steamship at Bahia by instruction of a German merchant.

CLUBS WAIVE ON WOOD "SOME" REFEREE

NOT ONE OF MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS
WILLING TO TAKE CHANCE ON
RED SOX PITCHER

BOSTON, March 1.—All the clubs in the American and National leagues have waived the right to the services of Joe Wood, Boston Red Sox pitcher, at the purchase price of $2500.

This means that not one of the major league clubs cares to take a chance that Joe will return to old-time form.

If Wood were a free agent and could guarantee that he is physically able to hold up his end as a major league pitcher, every club in both leagues would willingly go the limit to secure him.

Wood, it is said, was under the impression that most of the major league clubs would be only too glad to obtain his services and that he would be able to obtain better inducements than Boston offered to do the uniform this season. Now that all have refused to consider the $2500 draft price, considering the amount of salary he would demand, it seems to be a clear case of coming to an agreement with President Lamont.

The last says he has until March 17 to make up his mind to prove that he can come back with a demand for anything except the state house later on.

Joe Wood received $11,500 last season from the Boston Red Sox—pretty good treatment for a man who had an off year. The Red Sox management has treated Joe well and now it would seem that it is up to him to prove that he can come back with a demand for anything except the state house later on.

Sec. Edwin Riley has not yet received from Texas the contracts of Hanklin Johnson and Jimmie Speake. The latter said word that his contract with the Red Sox was signed and would reach Boston the first of the week. Speaker has a perfect record to date of signing after he reaches the training camp, and he has until March 17 to make up his mind to prove that he can come back with a demand for anything except the state house later on.

The Red Sox will be about the last major league team to go south this spring. The first party will leave Boston March 10 and will be at Fenway park for an exhibition game a month later, April 10.

EASY FOR FREDDIE YELLE

FORCED FRANKIE NELSON TO QUIT
IN THE SIXTH ROUND OF BOUT
AT BOSTON

BOSTON, Mar. 1.—Freddie Yelle of Taunton found Frankie Nelson of Hopedale rather easy game for him up at the Hippodrome last evening. Frankie preferring to quit in the sixth round of their scheduled 12-rounder, while Yelle was still in the ring.

Yelle's long reach and height counted strongly in his favor and, when after the third session he got his jab working, there was nothing to it. Early in the game Nelson's left eye began to leak and in the sixth session he could hardly see what he was doing. It was a punk bout, the Hopedale man being greatly outclassed.

In the semi-final, Joe Farren of East Boston was defeated by Charlie Byers of the South End in eight rounds.

In the first prelim, Johnny Donovan of South Boston added to his rapidly growing batting average of outpointing Young Farren of East Boston in six rounds. The second six-rounder resulted in a win for Willie Green of East Boston over George Brooks of Cambridge.

TENNEY TO PLAY IN NEWARK
NEWARK, N. J., March 1.—Fred Tenney, the new manager of the Newark International League baseball team, made a visit to this city the other day. Tenney inspected both the Federal league grounds and Wiedenmayer's park and declared he was undecided which would be more suitable for the coming season. Tenney said he intended to be a player-manager.

am only 41 years," he said, "and in a pinch I believe I can show that I have much baseball playing ability left."

Newark's new manager said when he and James R. Price, the president of the club, purchased the Newark franchise they obtained the player-owners of whom were on the old Newark team when it was transferred to Harrisburg last season. There is to be no expensive training trip for the Newark team this year.

Charlie White Has Called the Count in Many Important Battles

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—How will I referee the bout? Just as I have refereed every other bout in my life. I will see that the rules are obeyed, and that the men fight what more can I say?" says the Brooklyn Eagle.

The speaker was a clean shaven, bald-headed man of middle life, who would pass without creating comment in any gathering in Little New York. With the exception of his eyes, there is nothing particularly out of the ordinary in Charlie White, the matchmaker to referee the Willard-Moran fight. Even his bald and shiny dome is not particularly unique. You can easily find its mate in the front row at any Broadway musical comedy. Not that Charlie White frequents front seats at musical shows. Oh, dear no. Still he could if he would, for that dome is a splendid asset.

But those eyes are a little out of the ordinary. They are deeply set, and they look through you in a cold and calculating way that leaves the impression that their owner is a man who is going to referee the big bout in Madison Square Garden. "Old Good Eye" is what he is called, and "Old Good Eye" is a splendid sobriquet.

The selection of Charlie White came as a decided surprise to the majority of the followers of the sport, as Old Good Eye's name never had been mentioned. It had been rumored that Bill Brown, Jack Scully or Jim Jeffries would be the third man in the ring. The former champion was quickly forgotten, and on the day of the big meeting the referee question was settled down to a battle between the followers of Scully and Brown. Suddenly White's name was suggested, and Old Good Eye got the job.

While in prison of the fact that he was the official in four championship battles that saw the titles change hands, a fight that had Tex Rickard as the third man in the ring, and generally all around proud of his long and splendid work.

"The counting fight is by no means the first championship battle that I have governed," said White. "I have been the third man in the ring on more than one important occasion. However, it is not the championship battles that make a man. It is the years of work in minor affairs that give the confidence of the public and just forces you into the ring when something important is happening."

"No man who breaks faith with the public in minor fights need expect to referee an important bout. No matter if you are only the official in a preliminary bout at some unknown club, play fair with the public, see that the boys fight, put up with the ring when you will make a popular referee."

In an offhand way it was suggested that the referee should also know the rules. With a snort, White replied that no man belonged in the ring, be he fighter or boxer, who did not know the rules. By the way, the boxing commission passed such a rule, and you would have mighty few people in little New York eligible to step into a ring. Still, that is another story. This one has to do with Charlie White.

It was Charlie White who crowned Mysterious Billy Smith, the well-known weight champion of the world, when he defeated Ed. Cummings. It was the same Old Good Eye who counted out Frank Erne in the first round of that memorable fight at Fort Erie, that made Joe Gans the lightweight champion. He also gave Ben Jordan the featherweight championship, taking the title away from George Dixon. All the while the gladiator of Young Corbett, after the latter had knocked out Terry McGovern in that history-making fight at Hartford, Conn. Some fights for a man to officiate.

You may have noticed that all of these championship battles have been among little fellows. Also if you have seen White working during the past few years, it may come to mind that he rather enjoys breaking men apart by bodily force. Now is he going to turn the trick with Willard and Moran? The same way he turned the trick when he was the referee of Jeffries-Corbett, Fitzsimmons-Sharkey, Ruhlman-Peter Maher, and a dozen or more contests between men who were as big as the fighters who are to meet.

Don't worry, little one, be they big or small, they all look the same to Charlie White when he is the third man in the ring. They have to fight when he is on the job, or Charlie hops over the ropes, beats it down the aisle, leaving the public to take it out the best way they can.

You can't fool Old Good Eye, and Old Good Eye won't let you fool the public. That is why people are beginning to think that there may be something doing on March 8, if that really is the date of the big contest. As Bernard Shaw said: "You never can tell." Still, ten rounds are ten rounds, and the chances are very much against Charlie White crowning his fifth world's champion when Moran meets Jess Willard.

DIAMOND GOSSIP

The national game, we are told, is 77 years old, but to get a clear idea of how venerable it is consider that it is as old as Chris Mathewson and Homer Wagner combined.

Cincinnati has its annual pennant bug. Although the opening day is more than two months off, Hermann's office reports that more than $600 of the 11,248 reserved seats for Redland park have been sold for the opening game of the season.

On the directorate of the Braves are Messrs. Haughton, Logan, Frothingham and Garfield, and if, in view of this liberal interlocking with Diamond alumnus, the Braves don't wear crimson stockings, there is no sense of the fitness of things.

Weeghman is out to win a pennant his first year with the Cubs; Ebbets' hopes run high that games of the next world's series will be played at Ebbets' field; Boston counts on the Braves finishing on top again. The only way out of this complication is a triple tie.

Here is one curious fact about the career with Cincinnati of Pitcher Toney, who is holding out for a $5000 salary: He made only one striking error all last season, and that error was committed on the very first ball hit at him in the first inning of the very first game he pitched!

Mostly McHale, the pitcher of the Yankees, has landed a berth with the world's champion for 1916. He is expected to ship Marty back to the miners, but the pitcher asked to be allowed to dicker with some other major league club. Marty's request was granted by Donovan and the pitcher signed a contract with the Red Sox.

The breaking up of noted baseball combinations seems to react, in a way, on the component parts. Take, for example, the Athletics' great infield. The names McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker in combination were a household word. But separately—scattered—one doesn't hear so much of them, though their individual skill and worth are as great as ever.

Although the Pittsburgh club has as yet purchased no Federal stars, or made any deal for star players, President Dreyfuss has paid out $16,200 for eight new players secured by draft or purchase. They are Schmidt, Flanagan, Miller, Jacobs, Douglas, Schultz, Madden and Cleveland. These, with Stutzman, Siglin, McAlle and Albenburg, who were tried briefly last season, give a total of 12 new players.

BOWLING COMMENT

Chester Martel, champion randolph bowler of New England.

The next game in the Crescent-White way series will be rolled at the Crescent lanes next Tuesday night.

Johnson was decidedly off form in the Crescent-White way match last night and his belated prepping made a big hole in the totals rolled by the Crescent quintet. He was the only man to roll under 200.

Mrs. Kelman and Miss McManey, two of the best lady bowlers in the state have been matched to roll 30 strings at the Crescent lanes. The first 10 strings will be rolled next Wednesday night.

Bernadini of the White Ways hurled the round spheres down the polished surface for a total of 312 last night. The Middlesex street star was in exhibition form and his rolling featured the match.

BASKETBALL COMMENT

Members of the Y.M.C.A. are planning to surprise Paddy McGowan, the Institute player who was injured in the game on Washington's birthday.

Sam Follanbee was back in Monday night's game after an absence of several weeks and the Haverhill athlete acquitted himself very creditably.

Billy Wilson has been booked by the management of the Lawrence Military quintet to referee the remaining games in the play-off series.

Marlboro will play the Worcester K. of C. team in Marlboro tonight. The last time these two quintets clashed there was an attendance of over 2,000.

It appears that the third game in the series between the Y.M.C.A. and Salem A.C. teams will not be played owing to some kind of a wrangle over players. The Salem aggregation has taken two games to date.

Walter Costello, the Crescent forward who played with the Lowell Five Monday night, certainly showed Lowell fandom just how basketball should be played. Pitted against Frank McPherson, Costello played a remarkable game despite the fact that the Centralville warden kept on his back most of the time. He scored just 12 of the 25 points made by the Lowell Five.

The series between the Lowell Five and the Crescents will start a week from tomorrow night, all arrangements for the opening game having been completed by Managers Moore and Lew. Manager Moore will retain his present team while Manager Lew will probably team around for one or two new men to strengthen his lineup.

ROLLER SKATING CHAMPIONSHIP
Miss Louise Pelletier of this city won the roller skating championship of Essex and Middlesex counties on Monday night at the Crescent rink when she defeated Miss Mabel Duffin of Lawrence in their match race over a 2-mile distance. Miss Duffin held the championship of Essex county before the race. In the event staged by Proprietor Moore, "Gerry," the undefeated Manchester, N. H. speed marvel handed Matty "Bing" Conlon of this city a decisive beating in a 2-mile race. The New Hampshire skater ran into the lead at the start of the race and was never headed. "Boss" Allen won the 3-lap mill keg race from a field of competitors.

WHITE WAYS GET JUMP

WIN FIRST GAME OF SERIES FROM THE CRESCENTS FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

The White Ways handed the Crescent bowling quintet a decisive beating last night on a Middlesex street alley in the first game of the series for the city championship and a purse of $200. The White Ways collected 1627 sticks while all the Crescents could gather was 1525 pieces of wood.

The Crescents were outbowed individually and collectively by the White Ways. Johnson of the Crescents was the only one of the ten men rolling to register a mark below 300. Bernadini was high man for the White Ways with a total of 342 and he was closely trailed by his teammates, Kempton and Cole. Jewett, with a total of 320 was the honor man for the Crescent aggregation. The score:

TO SUPPORT PRESIDENT

PARTY LEADERS AT SYRACUSE HOLD INFORMAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 1.—Party leaders planned today's informal democratic state convention to be considered an invitation to the country at large to support President Wilson for re-election.

With that end in view, both keynote speech and platform heartily endorsed the president personally and his administrative policies and called for the selection of four delegates-at-large to the democratic national convention to be chosen with the understanding that they will do their utmost to bring about his re-nomination.

The delegates at large tentatively agreed upon are United States Senator James A. O'Connell, Chairman William Church Osborn of the democratic state committee; George J. Meyer of Buffalo, a German-American Wilson supporter, and Samuel Untermyer of New York.

The tentative draft of the platform besides heartily endorsing the Wilson administration, declared for "peace with honor" and advocated preparedness.

Former Gov. Martin H. Glynn was to deliver his speech as permanent chairman late this afternoon.

PROSPECTS OF LIVELY TILT AT REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION IN LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 1.—With prospects of a lively tilt over the number of delegates-at-large to be elected for the national convention at Chicago, the republican state convention met here today. Indications were that the delegation would be instructed to support former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks for the presidential nomination.

Supporters of Mr. Fairbanks last night asserted that 21 of the 26 Kentucky votes at the national convention would be cast for the Indiana man.

LOWELL BOY IS THE CHAMPION

Chester Martel Wins N. E. Candle Pin Title in Great Match

Defeats Archie Walsh of Boston in Twenty String Contest

Five hundred enthusiastic bowling fans saw Chester Martel of this city defeat Archie Walsh, of Boston, on the Jewel alleys in Merrimack street, last night, and as a result of the contest Martel is now the champion candle pin bowler of New England. It was a twenty-string match, the first ten strings being rolled on the New Boston alleys in Boston last Thursday night when Martel secured advantage of 34 pins over his opponent and last night the Lowell man took the second ten strings by the narrow margin of two pins, making a total of 36 for the 20 strings.

Martel's victory was a bitter blow to the Walsh followers who accompanied their little lad to this city for besides seeing the little fellow go down in defeat they left a good amount of the "long green" behind them. When Martel defeated Walsh last week in the first half of the match the Walsh admirers did not want to give Martel the credit due him, claiming that "Chet" was enjoying luck while Walsh was bumping up against bad breaks and they said that Walsh would put the jinx on Martel on the second leg of the match. Therefore a big crowd of fans from Boston were present and they certainly had plenty of money and loud growl against the Lowell fans backing Martel to the limit.

The question as to Martel's right to claim the New England championship is undisputed for Paul Pochler who held the title for a long time dropped it to Walsh several months ago. Walsh defended his title against a lot of strong opponents and last night he was enjoying luck while Walsh was bumping up against bad breaks and they said that Walsh would put the jinx on Martel on the second leg of the match. Therefore a big crowd of fans from Boston were present and they certainly had plenty of money and loud growl against the Lowell fans backing Martel to the limit.

While the game last night was fast one the scores were exceedingly low owing to bad breaks by both men. Martel averaged 105 pins for the ten strings and Walsh's average was but a trifle below that mark.

Although Martel won last night's contest by two pins he won but three of the strings. Walsh coping off six while the third string was a tie, each corner scored 57 while Walsh took the first fourth and sixth strings while Walsh was the victor in the second, fifth, seventh, eighth, ninth and last string.

Martel also put up the highest and lowest string, the top mark being 132 in the sixth while in the ninth string Martel dropped down to 54. Walsh scored 109, 57, 104, 126, 104, 132, 102, 95, 86, 105-1050.

Walsh—59, 120, 104, 38, 193, 28, 113, 101, 110-1015.

The score by strings Thursday night:

Martel—105, 121, 116, 102, 103, 110, 92, 109, 113, 108-1087.

Walsh—110, 99, 112, 104, 100 102, 135, 93, 115, 93-1053.

Total—Martel, 2137; Walsh, 2104.

THE INDIAN CLUB

To Conduct Minstrel Show and Dance in Associate Hall Tomorrow Night—Good Time Assured

The Indian club, whose football team won the city championship last season, and whose members are noted as "champion" entertainers, will conduct a minstrel show and dance in Associate hall tomorrow evening, and the indications are that the affair will be a great success. The Indian club was organized several years ago, and has participated in many prize contests, always getting a place among the winners. In the July Fourth parade the Indians took second money in the slam-bang division, while a number of years ago they captured two first prizes in two days, one the "night before" parade in Centralville, and the other the July Fourth parade conducted under the auspices of the municipal council. They always put forth their best efforts in all their undertakings, and hence have spared nothing to make tomorrow night's party a prize winner. In the prelude, preceding the dancing, some of Lowell's most prominent entertainers will appear, while several out-of-town performers will add to the success of the program. Comedians James Centerville, and the other, the duo, and William Way, director, Louis Sheldon, a dancer from Boston, will be one of the feature numbers. Joyce and Joyce, professional thespians, will also perform. Among the local artists will be Mary Rose O'Neil, Mrs. Nora Longton, the Hayden quartet and James Roane. Music will be furnished by Broderick's orchestra.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

HOW TO SELECT AUTO

GEORGE W. MORRISON GIVES SOME GOOD SUGGESTIONS—OTHER AUTO NOTICES

George W. Morrison, manager of the Auburn Motor Car company, of this city, now located in its new garage in Thorndike street in speaking about selecting a car, makes a few brief suggestions:

"In selecting a car, the purchaser should look further than the handsome exterior appearance which delights the eye and elicits the praise of the witnesses. Yet a car's handsome appearance is a thing to be desired, but not all."

"That everyone wants a car of a long wheelbase is not to be doubted; it gives ease in riding and eliminates the cramping of passengers, while also allowing for deep comfortable cushions. Most of the medium priced 5 passenger cars of today are built with the wheelbase of goodly length the average wheelbase being about 120 inches, while the average wheelbase of 7 passenger cars is from 125 inches to 130 inches. In speaking of the different things which add to the comfort of the occupants of the car the springs should be seriously considered. Of course everyone knows of the various types of springs, the full, the semi and the three-quarter elliptic and coilover. Yet with each style shock absorbers are necessary to develop the fullness of the springs. In my own experience that the most satisfactory way is to use the semi elliptic on the front and the long cantilever spring in the rear. Next comes a consideration of the tires to be used. Unfortunately it often happens that the tires put on the car are of small sizes of tires which are inadequate to properly support the weight of the car. In order to obtain any semblance of sufficient support it is necessary to over-inflate the tire. But this proves disastrous to the tire in a very short time. Blow-outs, stone bruises and all other tire ills appear in short order. The larger the size of the tire the more is the comfort to be obtained and the longer the life of the tire. Be careful about the pressure of the tire. Tires should be tested for pressure each week whether they have been used during the week or not. You will then know that your tires are receiving proper treatment, of course it goes without saying that one should see that the car he is buying has on it tires of standard makers who will make good any defect in the tire.

"As the engine is to the automobile what the heart is to the human body it should receive careful consideration. It is the most vital part of the entire car and the principal work is done by the engine. There are many types of engines, but 75 per cent of the cars of today have the 'L' head cast in block and one which I have found to be very satisfactory is the Continental motor which today is used in 145 makes of cars of all prices.

"Closely connected with the operation of the motor is the carburetor. Perhaps there is no part of an automobile which has been as much discussed as the carburetor. Perfect carburetion is almost to be desired of, for the carburetor is subject even to weather conditions and to the mixture. If the mixture is not just right, all kinds of engine trouble may ensue as a consequence. Personally I favor the Rayfield carburetor and I found my preference upon experience. The Rayfield with the hot water jacket, as well as with the hot air connection produces an excellent gas mixture before it reaches the engine and gives successful results. The power of the engine depends upon the condition of the mixture. If the mixture is poor so also is your power. As gasoline is naturally cold it is impossible to obtain a properly mixed gas when drawn directly into the engine as is done by the old style carburetors. A far greater mileage is to be obtained per gallon of gasoline by first heating and vaporizing the gasoline into a clear gas mixture. It also reduces spark plug trouble to a minimum, gives smoother running and eliminates knocking and pounding of the engine as it were laboring. In older cars which have not the latest improvements there is a loss of power upon consulting some garage men you will be told that the cylinders and valves need regrounding and the carbon removed, but with the improved car of today all this is overcome. I have found that another way to keep the engine clean and running at full strength is never to mix one gallon of kerosene with every five gallons of gasoline. I have been doing this for the last ten years.

"The spark plug plays an important part in the good running of the motor. Never use a cheap spark plug. The porcelain kind is apt to crack and short circuit. A good motor and a good ignition amount to nothing without a good strong spark; hence give your spark plugs careful consideration. The best spark to be obtained today is that from the improved generator and battery system which eliminates the difficulties which are present with dry cells and magneto systems as the battery would run out very rapidly and would need to be recharged.

"The vacuum feed tank is very important. Its advantages are many. No matter how high the hill is you will always have a downflow of gasoline and the carburetor will always have enough gas to supply the engine, thus insuring maximum amount of power at all times. It is for these reasons that I think that the vacuum feed tank is one of the very best improvements in the modern car. It can easily be attached to any car at a small expense.

"The latest improved disk or adjustable cone leather faced clutch with spring inserts is very popular. The purpose of the springs is to keep the clutch always tight and prevent slipping even when wear sets in."

Never in any of the previous years has there been evident more interest in Lowell over the Boston Auto show than this year. No wonder is it that all the local dealers in automobiles supply as well as garage men are optimistic about the future. It is a certainty that the number of visitors to the Boston Auto show will this year be far in excess of that of last year. Everyone to whom it is possible should attend this great display of automobile progress whether they are in the market for a car or not, because of its great educational value. Only after attending this exhibit can one form an adequate idea of what is important in the automobile industry in the property of this country. No one will feel like a stranger in a strange land at the auto show because he will meet many of his Lowell friends and neighbors there. Visitors will also find the local dealers at the show attentive and accommodating.

On Saturday, March 4th, the day of the opening of the Boston Auto show, The Sun will publish a large automobile section devoted to the news of the show, of many of the cars there displayed of local gossip, all of which will be found to be very interesting reading matter.

This is the opening day of a Lowell auto show. The Auburn Motor Car Co. under the management of George W. Morrison has leased the garage in the new Farrell building in Thorndike street. Today, tomorrow, Friday and Saturday will be devoted to the holding of a formal opening of the new home of the Auburn car. Mr. Morrison with assistants will be present on each of these days to demonstrate and explain the car in the minutest detail. Special souvenir will be given to visitors. The company now selling the Auburn car will be known as the Auburn Motor Car Co. and not as the Auburn Motor Sales Co., as was stated in The Sun last Saturday.

Says M. S. Peindel, the well known automobile dealer:

The motor of Overland model $3 R is larger than that of any other car of its size and price—larger even than that of many heavier cars. Therefore it provides more space for gas in the cylinders, and consequently gives more power. The valves are large, too, giving quick, complete intake and exhaust. This is the reason why the "snap" and the maximum of power is obtained from every explosion.

"It has an apparently unlimited supply of power that is nothing short of remarkable—power more than equal to the most exacting demands placed upon it. It makes hills seem almost like level roads. It takes the car easily and smoothly through sand and mud that tax other cars of this size to their limit.

"The cylinder heads are all cast in one piece, which is easily removable should occasion demand. The intake manifold is a passing within the cylinder casting itself, delivering the gasoline mixture to the cylinders at a warm temperature best adapted to combustion."

Motorists who are familiar with the comfort and luxury which are embodied in the Pullman motor car will keenly appreciate the establishment of an agency of this make of car in Lowell. The new agency is known as the Pullman Sales company, and is located in the Bradley building, Central street. As auto men T. W. Johnson and Son, the agents of this car, are too well known in this section of the country to need introduction. In looking upon the agency of this reliable car, the new distributors feel that they have secured a car which will have great appeal among the motor enthusiasts of Lowell and vicinity.

JAIL RECKLESS DRIVERS

HOUSE PASSES A BILL WHICH ALSO CARRIES HEAVY FINE OR IMPRISONMENT

BOSTON, March 1.—Reckless drivers of autos, those who operate automobiles while under the influence of liquor, and also autoists who run away after accidents, were given a jolt at the state house yesterday when, after a sharp wordy battle, the house of representatives passed a bill to provide for severe penalties for automobilists convicted of these offenses.

The measure passed was offered by Representative Allen of Newton on Monday as a substitute for the original bill.

Under the Allen bill, a person who is convicted of operating an auto recklessly, or of operating an auto while under the influence of liquor, or who, without stopping and making himself known, or causing injury to another, causes injury to another vehicle or property, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $20 or more than $200, or by imprisonment for not less than two weeks or more than two years or by both such fine and imprisonment.

It is provided that on conviction for the second time for operating a vehicle recklessly, a person shall be liable to imprisonment of not less than 30 days or more than two years, and his license shall be revoked for at least one year and that, on a second conviction for operating an auto while under the influence of liquor, a person shall be liable to a sentence of not less than one year or more than two years, and shall forfeit his license for a period of three years.

TRUTHS OF CYCLING

The good old days of a decade or more ago when bicycles were ridden by everybody for the sport of a spin, bringing exhilarating pleasures to the rider, are coming back, according to the national bicycle committee.

For some time past have been enlisting the interest of bicycle dealers of all sections in a campaign for "telling the great truths of cycling" to the people.

The two wheeled, graceful, powerful, sturdy, is already a prime favorite with the fashionable sets at the leading watering places of the country and many country clubs.

KEEN COMPETITION

Never in the history of the industry was competition quite so keen as during the last year. The motor buying public has been more concerned than ever before. Every effort on the part of the manufacturer to improve his product and at the same time bring it nearer the reach of the greatest number of possible purchasers is more appreciated than ever before, and is being compensated with an appreciable increase in sales.

The year 1915 marked the turning point in the industry. At its completion one might truly say that the automobile business had come into its own. Like the boom town that after a year or so of stimulated progress, settles down to make a metropolitan of itself, the motor car industry is now down on bed-rock—a business in every sense of the word in which business methods alone prevail and selling is governed by forethought and reason.

ROADS TRAVEL

Roads travel has become a yearly habit with thousands of Americans. While it is true that highway betterment ought first to be considered from the commercial and farming needs of the several states, the gradual connecting of main lines of communication encourages the visitor from a distance, who frequently becomes an investor and in some instances a permanent resident.

In the days of not so long ago, with the approach of each spring, it was more than general for many sections to send for travel literature issued by the railroads and to study and plan trips to those delightful localities so adjectively described by the travel booster.

With the rapid increase in automobiling there has come this multiplied desire "to go somewhere," and all over the land motorists are now working over their plans for touring trips. These vary from the ambitious transcontinental—either from ocean to ocean or border to Gulf—journey, to those taking in only a state or two as a circuit jaunt.

In this group are thousands who, as members of the American Automobile association, utilize the vast accumulation of road data and routes assembled by the bureaus in Washington and New York which serve as national clearing houses of touring information. There are other thousands of potential tourists, new to the ownership of automobiles and not members of the A.A.A., who are only too often blindly planning trips of more or less ambitious mileage with but little idea of what is before them as to possible and most traveled routes.

HELPFUL HINTS:

Quite often carburetor trouble may be traced back to the intake valves. If one of the intake valves does not seat properly, or if the valve stem sticks in its guide occasionally, it will be a difficult matter to obtain satisfactory adjustment of the carburetor.

With cars having stiff clutch springs it is advisable to cover the clutch pedal foot rest with rubber to prevent the foot from slipping. Especially in wet weather will this be found helpful and restful to the driver. One can also control the clutch action to better advantage.

Though speedometers are used to ascertain the speed at which the car is being driven, there is another use, i. e., to determine the time to change gears. Of course, the time when gears should be shifted will vary slightly according to the conditions under which the car is being driven. It may be taken that when the speedometer hand points to six miles an hour a change to second speed should be made. Thus the engine and the car will be saved the unnecessary racking when the engine commences to labor.

A slight dent in a fender may be remedied without damage to the paint, with a little care. Two hardwood blocks should be obtained, one shaped to the curve of the under part of the fender at the dent, and the other curved to the contour of the upper surface of the fender. While the one block is held under the dent the other is held above it, and hit with a hammer until the dent is smoothed out. It may be well to heat the under side of the fender with a blow torch to prevent the paint cracking. The heat should not be too great, or the paint will be burned.

BILLARD PAYS $1,250,000

Suit Brought By New Haven to Recover Alleged Profits Due in Purchase of B. & M. Stock Settled

NEW YORK, March 1.—The suit brought by the present administration of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad to recover $2,700,000 from Charles S. Mellen, former president of the road; John L. Billard of Meriden, Conn.; Edward D. Robbins, former general counsel; Samuel Hemmingsway of New Haven, and others alleged to have been due the New Haven in transactions with the Billard Co., has been settled out of court. The New Haven Co. announced here today that the suit had been compromised by the payment to the New Haven of $1,250,000 in cash.

The Billard Co. was the vehicle for a number of other New Haven financial transactions down to the time when Mellen resigned in 1911. The new administration came into power. Edward S. Robbins, according to testimony in the recent trial, engineered several of these transactions and was responsible. It was testified, for the secret transfer of the Billard Co. books and assets to Canada at the time the government was seeking them. The Billard Co. was alleged, was used as a vehicle for the transactions whereby Robbins obtained control of the properties of the Metropolitan Steamship Co., and made a personal profit. It was alleged, of nearly $700,000. Several million dollars' worth of securities of New Haven subsidiaries were at one time in the possession of the Billard Co. Billard, a coal dealer, purchased from the New Haven in 1905, during the administration of Charles S. Mellen as president of the road, 110,000 shares of B. & M. stock at $125 and sold it back a year later at $150. It was alleged that Billard was acting in the interests of the New Haven and that the deal was a fictitious transaction. The New Haven at that time was for-bidden by the Massachusetts laws to own the Boston & Maine and it was charged that Billard assumed title to the stock to enable the New Haven to inform the Massachusetts authorities that they did not own control of the Boston & Maine.

Later the New Haven was authorized by an act of the Massachusetts legislature to acquire the Boston & Maine and the holdings of Billard were sold back to the road.

Billard's ostensible profit in the deal was about $2,750,000, but this was reduced by other transactions between the New Haven and the John L. Billard Co., which was organized. According to testimony in the recent criminal action brought by the government under the Sherman anti-trust law against former directors of the New Haven, Billard personally did not get but $50,000. During the trial of the case it was contended by the defendants that the Billard transaction was bona fide. It was brought out by the government that Billard was, however, financed in the deal by the New Haven and never put up a cent of his own money.

Among other defendants in the Billard suit who share in the payment of the settlement money were Mr. Mellen and Edward D. Robbins, former counsel of the New Haven. Samuel Hemmingsway, president of the Second National bank of New Haven, at one time an officer of the Billard Co., was also a defendant. The suit was originally for $2,700,000, brought in Connecticut courts. The settlement represents a compromise.

BILLARD RETIRED
MERIDEN, Conn., March 1.—John L. Billard declined today to make any comment on the announcement of the settlement of the suit of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad against him and others in connection with the Boston & Maine transaction.

Homor S. Cummings of Stamford, counsel for Mr. Billard and others in the suit, made this comment at Bridgeport today:

"The statement as given out by the railroad company accurately expresses the situation. We do not care to make any further comment."

In which the resolutions will be presented will be determined later. Immediately after the conference Chairman Flood went to the capital to call his committee together to frame a resolution.

The president made it clear that he did not want a vote on a resolution expressing support of his conduct of the diplomatic controversy and as a result of his position the foreign affairs committee, but because he thought it expedient, as he realized that a special rule would be necessary to provide for immediate consideration.

Chairman Flood said that after he had drafted a resolution he would confer with the president. Its exact form before it was presented to the house.

At the conclusion of the conference the leaders hurried back to the capital. It was almost certain that the parliamentary situation in both houses would prevent a vote coming up today.

The president explained to the leaders that he had written to the rules committee, not because he was dissatisfied with any action of the foreign affairs committee, but because he thought it expedient, as he realized that a special rule would be necessary to provide for immediate consideration.

Chairman Flood said that after he had drafted a resolution he would confer with the president. Its exact form before it was presented to the house.

Measure of Confidence
House leaders today drafted for consideration of the house a measure proposing that congress express its confidence in the president's handling of the armed merchantmen controversy and recognize that it is not a matter of legislative but of executive concern.

President Wilson's Letter
President Wilson's letter to Representative Ford, asking congressional action on the armed ship resolution, is as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Ford—Inasmuch as I learn that Mr. Henry, the chairman of the committee on rules, is absent in Texas, I take the liberty of calling your attention as ranking member of the committee, to a matter of grave concern to the country which can, I believe, be handled under the rules of the house only by that committee.

"The report that there are divided councils in congress in regard to the foreign policy of the government is being made industriously use of in foreign capitals. I believe that report to be false, but so long as it is made, it cannot fail to do the greatest harm and expose the country to the most serious risks. I therefore feel justified in asking that your committee will permit me to urge an early vote upon the resolutions with regard to travel on armed merchantmen, which have recently been so much talked about in order that there may be afforded an immediate opportunity for full public discussion and action upon them and that all doubts and uncertainties may be swept away and our foreign relations once more cleared of damaging misunderstandings.

"This matter is of so great importance and lies so clearly within the field of executive initiative, that I venture to hope that your committee will not think that I am making an unwarranted liberty in making this suggestion as to the business of the house, and I very earnestly commend it to their immediate consideration. Cordially and sincerely yours,

"Woodrow Wilson"

THE MAN IN THE MOON

It is possible that any intelligent citizen of Lowell thinks that the efforts of several gentlemen to safeguard children from death should not be regarded by the public seriously, and that their request for action on the part of the municipal council should be treated as a joke?

Considering the death toll of children due to the indifference and negligence of the city of Lowell and the Locks and Canals corporation, it is not surprising that the municipal council should be so easily disposed of the matter with cheap attempts at wit. Jokes have no part in a matter that means safety for our children and the lessening of sorrow in a mother's heart.

Transfers No Good

A buxom woman weighting about 225 climbed with difficulty into the jitney, piled her bundles in her lap and settled herself for a comfortable ride home. But a thought struck her as she brought forth a transfer which, she thought, would save her from the unhandsome fare. "There!" she exclaimed, "you don't take transfers do you?" The jitney man allowed that indeed he had no use for "em in his business.

Whether the lady felt morally obliged to make use of that transfer, or whether she was just a poor soul, and if Mr. Jitney didn't know, while he would gladly have taken her home, he reflected as the lady laboriously climbed out, that she had taken fully three-quarters of the back seat and so might have proven a rather expensive passenger.

Boxing Exhibitions

The granting of a license to the Triangle club to give boxing exhibitions is a just recognition of the rights of our citizens who enjoy such exhibitions. It is also recognition of an art which rightly fostered means the revival of the good old English method of instilling nerve and stamina, and of banishing mollycoddles and the too common custom of many of our future citizens of settling disputes by knife or gun. Interest in our best blooded population in the native art and we shall have gone a long distance in abating the use of deadly weapons, and make them better men. I bespeak for the Triangle club long life and a successful and useful career, if it shall be guided by good judgment and ever observe both the letter and the spirit of the law.

Coasting Dangers

Several small boys coasting down London street on a counter the other day, narrowly escaped, at least serious injury. As the double slid into Gorham street an auto moving slowly down the sidewalk while the kids threw themselves from the sled leaving the latter to receive the compliments of the auto. There were several anxious moments for the driver of the auto as well as for the kiddos. Quick action and quick thinking to which we may add the proverbial luck presiding over the average small boy, prevented what might have resulted in a fatality or two. However, we may witness children taking these chances all over the city when sleds are in commission.

Charles W. Morey

The late Charles W. Morey, who was a teacher in our public schools for 26 consecutive years—34 as principal of the Highland grammar school—was something more than a director of the education of our youth, although that in itself was a vocation calling for our highest respect and consideration since there is no work there so noble as nobler among man's spheres of doing.

Those who knew Mr. Morey best—and there are many in Lowell who knew him from boyhood—while saddened by the loss of their friend, take some pride in the friendship he felt for them and are grateful for the years which fortune permitted them to walk with him. His power to make and hold friends was simply an expression of that broad and abundant sympathy, which indeed was the dominant note of a character singularly strong and admirable. Earnest and straightforward where many of us vacillate, strong where many of us are weak, wholly devoted where many of us are half-hearted, Charles Morey appeared to us as the ideal school master, thoroughly equipped for his chosen work, that he was admirably fitted mentally and temperamentally for the profession of a teacher we know, his good influence upon the lives and characters of hundreds and thousands of scholars of the Highland school must be as the heart monument to his memory. You cannot find a scholar who went through the Highland school to speak aught but in love and respect of its principal. Many of them have told me: "He was my best friend, I owe him more than I can tell, and when a boy or a girl even many grown-up men say things like that, tributes to Charles Morey's worth as a man and teacher have been uttered, beside which the good offices of the scribe or orator were hollow sounds.

Thus it is that an unusual number of the city of Lowell feel that the city has sustained a great loss in the death of Mr. Morey and thus it is that thousands of people mourn for him.

REUNION OF ST. MICHAEL'S

Associate Hall Crowded by Devoted Members of Parish—Fine Entertainment

One of the most enjoyable and most successful events in the history of St. Michael's parish was the annual reunion of its members which was held last evening at Assolade hall. Much to the credit of the priests of the parish and the committee in charge of the affair, the hall was taxed to its capacity and the receipts of the evening through the sale of tickets as well as through the disposal of the various good things which were on the sales tables, the receipts were quite substantial.

The hall was handsomely decorated for the occasion, while the beautiful gowns of the female members of the party, greatly added to the brilliancy of the affair. The side walls and the front were decorated with bunting of the national colors, intermingled with yellow and pink streamers, which extended to the centre chandelier. The booths and tables on both sides of the main floor were also prettily set with soft colored bunting. The stage was decorated with pulled plants and flowers and the scene was most attractive.

Present at the gathering were the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw, who was warmly greeted by his parishioners, Rev. Francis J. Mullin and other members of the clergy. Rev. Dr. Mullin had charge of the entertainment program which was one of rare excellence.

The musical sketch was entitled "The Fourth Commandment," and was ably presented by the following: Miss Alice Gilligan, William F. Thornton, Z. I. Blissette, Jr. and James E. Donnelly.

The affair, which proved very interesting was presented under the personal direction of Frank Delaney, while Mr. Thornton had charge of the singing.

The second part of the program, the minstrel sketch, consisted of the following:

ANTISEPTIC FOOT AID
Instant relief is at hand for those who suffer at this season with frost bites and chilblains if they will get from any druggist a small bottle of Minard's liniment. It frees you from all foot troubles. For nothing you have ever used is as good for tired, aching, sore feet. It is wonderfully antiseptic, absolutely pure, easy and clean to use—does not stain and is penetrating and helpful.

Floor Director, Miss Cora McGauvran
Assistant Floor Director, Hugh J. Donnelly

Our Early Display of

LADIES' WOOLTEX

GARMENTS

Is a Fashion Show in Itself

We know your first desire in viewing the new Spring styles will be to see the really new things.

Equally important it is that the styles shall be correct and that every garment shall possess such sterling character that in the one you choose you will be well dressed throughout the season.

Our Wooltex Suits and Coats are charming examples of the season's most authentic style tendencies. And what is equally welcome to know, they are so well made that they will retain their smart stylish beauty throughout the year.

We invite you to see this fashion show today. Choose your Spring Suit while the styles are new and most desirable.
